the community.

Who are we looking for?

We're always growing our business which means we're looking for various management roles to help us do this, including Shift Managers, Assistant Managers and Store Managers.

You might already be an experienced manager working in a QSR, hospitality or retail role. Or perhaps you feel like you've progressed as far as you can in your current role and you think you're ready to step into a management role.

We'll provide you with the training and support to do a great job in whatever role is the right fit for you.

What does a Domino's manager do?

As a member of our management team, you'll be responsible for everything that happens in your store during your shift. This includes controlling all store costs and secure cash handling procedures.

You'll be responsible for leading and motivating your team. For starters, that means ensuring they're fully trained to do their job, they have a clear schedule with enough notice so they can plan the rest of their life (work isn't everything after all!) and, of course, they are always paid correctly and on time.

You'll ensure your store is always set up for success. You'll make sure Domino's image and brand standards are always maintained and you'll do everything you can to deliver outstanding quality, service and store profitability through a fantastic team.

What's in it for you?

Our benefits include:

Competitive pay

Paid holiday

Flexible working hours

Full training

Company discount

Free uniform

Excellent career development opportunities and the pride that comes with working for one of the world's greatest brands, and the number one pizza company in the world.

The experience you'll gain working as a manager at Domino's, along with the security and
