Head of Therapy - Kennington, London, SE11

Salary: flexible and negotiable, depending on experience

Our client's independent schools provide innovative, therapeutic provision for pupils aged 5 to 16 who have experienced adverse childhood experiences. They are widely acknowledged as leading the way in providing 'outstanding' (Ofsted, 2018) specialist provision for some of London's most complex children.

They have an exciting and unique opportunity to join as head of therapy at their flagship Kennington site. Working equally alongside the head of education, this leadership role at their site for 25 pupils with education, health and care plans is fundamental to the seamless operation of the school.

In addition to day-to-day leadership and management, the key responsibility of this role is to monitor and assure a consistently outstanding therapeutic approach, liaising with all remits of therapy to ensure that all professionals involved in the care plans of our pupils are working efficiently together. Including leading meetings with external professionals and outside agencies.
