accordingly.

- You will be living in/around Dublin and covering the whole of Ireland as well as Northern Ireland.
- Qualifications in automotive mechanics and/or engineering are required, as is experience in both aspects of the role.
- You will be repairing vehicles including, but not limited to, mobile shredding trucks and forestry chippers so experience with similar commercial and plant vehicles is essential.
- Knowledge of hydraulics, 12/24V electrics, welding, fabrication, and basic paint touch-ups is required.
- You will manage spare parts within the van and the depot alongside a long-serving sales consultant.

What the Successful Candidate will get:

- A chance to escape the static workshop and spend time travelling through Ireland and Northern Ireland to perform your job.
- A rewarding career with variety in the jobs and locations where you will be working.
- A competitive remuneration package.
- A place in a busy, expanding company looking to grow its workforce and operational capacity.

Roles are being filled fast in the current market so please get in touch quickly with applications and queries.
